THE YEAR "1985."

The school year of 1984-85 was an exciting year at Crook County High School. Many memorable events will live long in the minds of the students and faculty. The cowboys won the state championship football tournament. Girls basketball made it to the state playoffs again. Many track members placed in district. It must be said that a school the size of Crook County playing in the AAA league has done pretty darn good. The students that were not involved in sports events were close behind, supporting the athletes. Pep assemblies were always fun.

Each individual will have their memories of the year 1985. For the seniors it was a good "going out" year.

CLOCKWISE: The senior A.P. class and their trip to ashland. Bruce Scanlon accepts the state championship trophy after winning the state championship game. Linda Alexander and friends get pepped up traveling to an out of town game. Student shows that he has class spirit. Mrs Hayes and Ms Leonard display their cowboy spirit. The class of 1985 are proud to show it. Cowboy feet power. The football players parade through town gaining support from the townspeople. Loni Arnott and Brian Hale show that they are full of energy. Katy Fitzgerald finds another day of school as exciting as another.

Yearbook Party
ANOTHER YEAR

The halls were crowded. There was a large number of people with pens and yearbooks in their hands, eagerly awaiting to rekindle old friendships. Each person had a smile on his face, and was anxious to converse with his old friends once again. People were sharing past experiences, intimate thoughts, and jokes of the past year as they signed yearbooks

Excitement filled the air; many laughs of surprise and joy were heard as everyone took notice of last year's seniors. As the evening came to a close, hands were con-torted with writer's cramps. There were also hugs, tears, and other feelings as people began leaving. Friends promised to keep in touch in the years to come

Kim McCullough sits with friends Steve Sproat and Doug Gannon sign annuals. Samra Thurston smiles at the camera while Tim Smith and Kevin Wooldridge suffer from writer's cramp. Reed Colovos examines pictures of classmates. Tom McGaughey and Lori Starr concentrate on what they want to write. Laurie French is waiting to receive her annual. Spike Charley laughs with his friends

Homecoming THE THRILL OF VICTORY

It was a chilly October evening as the 1984 Homecoming Court, made up of freshman princess A.J. Dunaway, sophomore princess Wendi Ward, junior princess Becky Olsen and senior princess Sandi Ward, stood impatiently to see who would be granted the red rose. As the tension mounted and the half time events came to a close, senior princess Sandi Ward was crowned the Homecoming Queen for 1984.

Homecoming Week COWBOY SPIRIT

The 1984 Homecoming week was kicked off with its usual enthusiasm. The week was unfortunately reduced to three days, but the Cowboys took advantage of the shortened time to make 1984 a memorable homecoming.

Besides the traditional hall decorating and class competition, senior Yancey Fall made a lasting impression on the CCHS student body during the Homecoming Assembly.

While mimicking the popular group, Motley Crue, Yancey Fall thought the special effects needed a personal touch. Towards the end of the performance, he accidentally caught the stage on fire!

The week ended with a 36-14 victory over the Mt. View Cougars and the crowning of senior Sandi Ward as Homecoming Queen 1984.

Lotta Klingstrom shows her true personality. The CCHS Fire Fighters controlling the senior's special effects. Jane Demaris and Vesta Rhoden as Prince and the Revolution. Jose Perez decorating the senior hall.

Winter Formal

A YEAR TO REMEMBER

Dinner and dancing, good conversation and a general party atmosphere contributed to the many festivities during the annual winter formal at the Elks Lodge. The turnout in 1984 was bigger than in 1983 which some said made it more fun. Jennifer Collins, whose date at the Winter Formal was Dean Munsey Stated, "They didn't play very many songs I knew and the ones I did know weren't played very well."

Julie McGuire was crowned queen of the 1984 Winter Formal. Being crowned was an exciting event for Julie, as she stated, "to be crowned queen is something I have dreamed about since I was little, and something I will remember for a long time."

CLOCKWISE: Paul Tutor puts his best move on partner Shelly Dyson. Kevin Weberg searches for his run-away date. Queen Julie McGuire wicks a dance with her escort Chuck Asher. Rod Fulton and Tralna Puckett sit down to have a heart to heart talk. Mitch Proch's bubble gum gets in the way as he tries to whisper sweet nothings in his date's ear. John Bell is too late as he tries to coax Ernest Forney and Gina Moore to smile.

Junior Senior Prom TENDER YEARS

"Tender Years" was the theme of this year's Jr. Sr. Prom. A person could sum up this years prom in two words. "A SUCCESS"

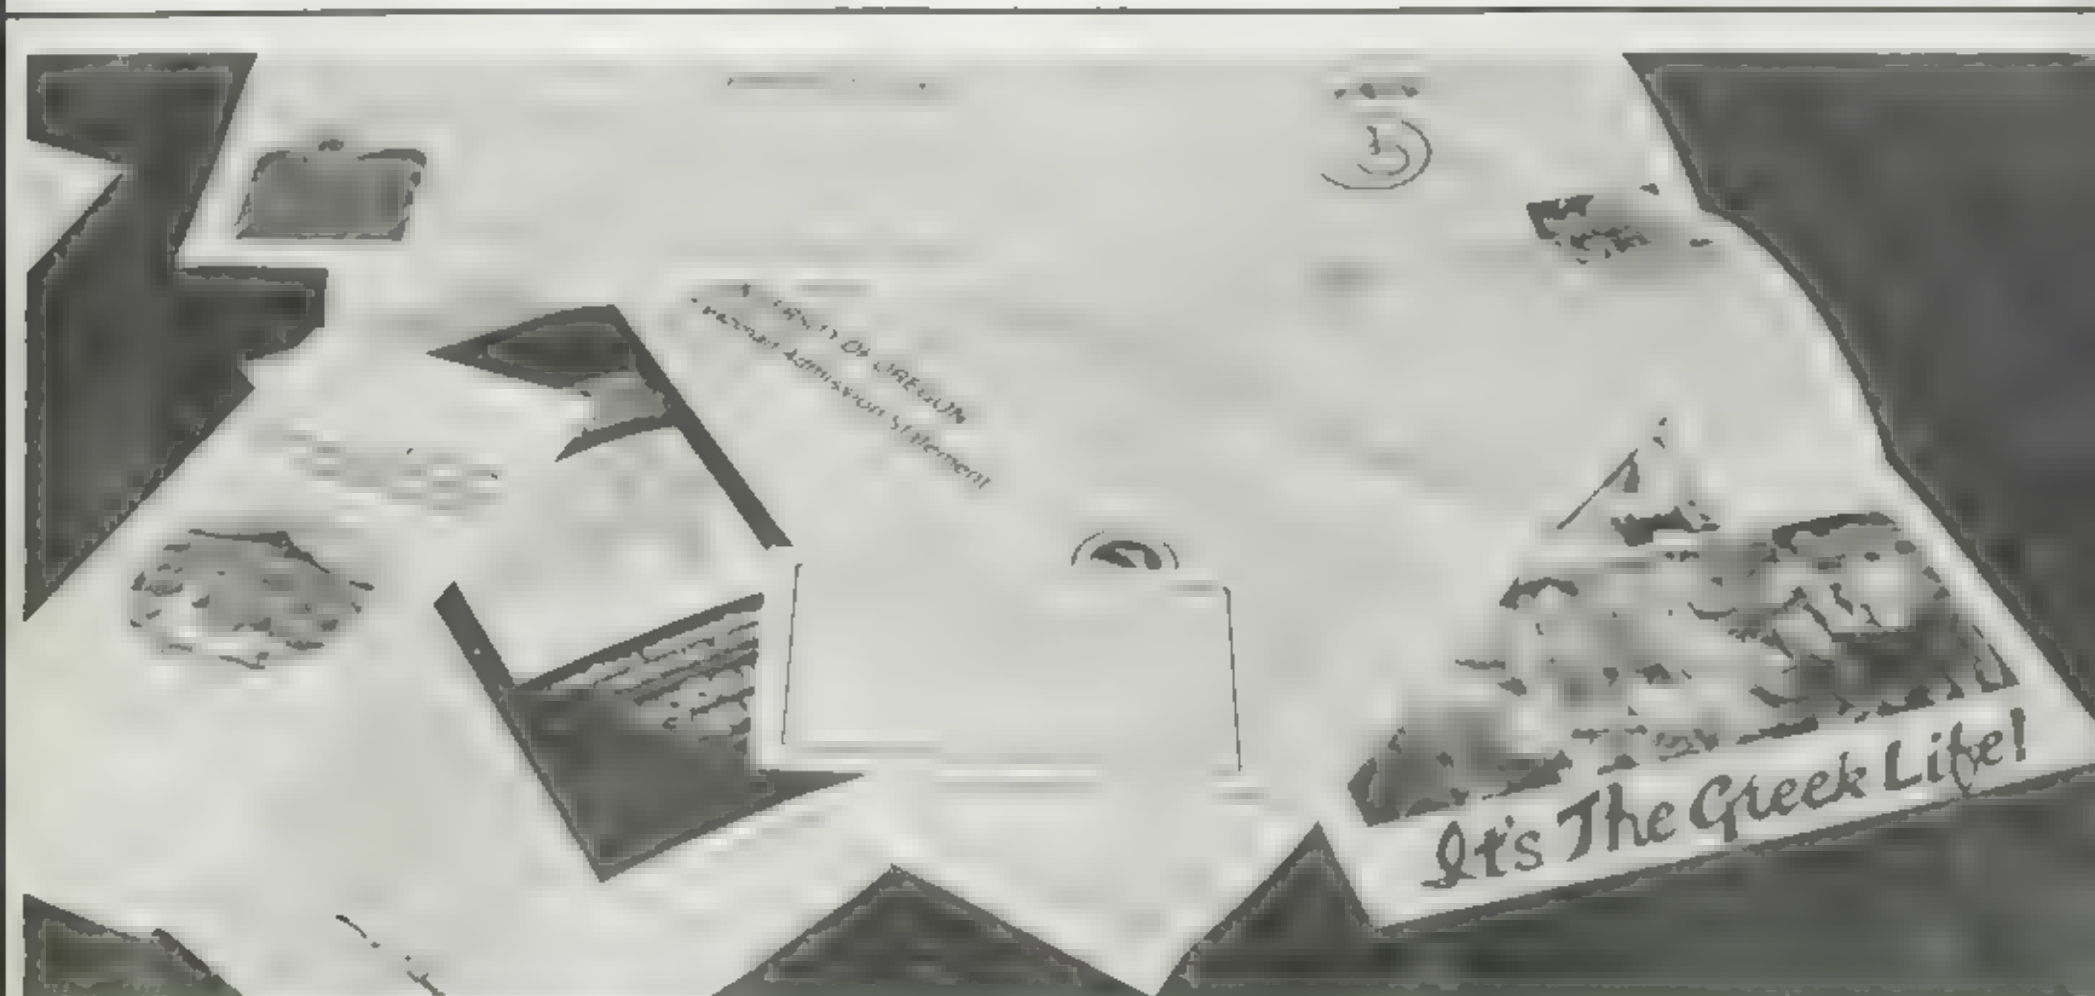

The prom was held at the Elks Lodge like in years past. The excitement began at 8:00 p.m. when the doors opened and the dancing began. Although the entertainment was not a live band the D J's selection was excellent. The ballroom was decorated in a beautiful array of streamers, brilliant stars, and sparkling lights. To top this event off, the students attending wore tuxes and gowns. This gave the event an air of prestige

Drinks and cake were served even though the students went out to eat in their fancy clothes before the prom. Most of the people dined in Bend, some of them rented, chauffeur driven limousines. At 12 p.m. the last song was played and the prom ended. It was events like these that make these the "Tender Years."

Retiring teachers A FINAL STEP

Mrs. Williams, who has been a teacher for 26 years, 9 of them at CCHS, is retiring. Mrs. Williams plans to spend her new free time traveling to New England, Florida, and to the Bahamas after Christmas. She also plans to do volunteer work at a hospital dealing with cancer patients. She said about her retirement "I will miss the students and my fellow workers, but it will be really nice to do what I want when I want to."

Mrs. Williams was asked to tell about some strange things that have happened to her, and her reply was, "I have done and learned many things since I took this position as Dean of Students, such as actually having to pull girls apart in several fights who were bent on maiming each other for life. I have also heard every unimaginable excuse for being absent from school."

Mrs. Williams has been a tremendous asset to Crook County and will be missed.

Mr. Vinson is retiring also. He has been a math and physics teacher at CCHS for the past 11 years.

After retirement, Mr. Vinson plans to move back to the Willamette Valley. He plans to write two books about elementary mathematics. He said that he has most of the content outlined and all that remains is for it to be put together. He wants to get involved in "some serious photography". He would also like to do some ocean fishing on the Oregon coast.

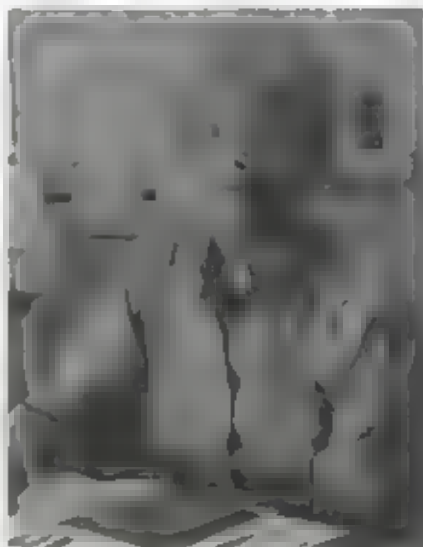

When he was asked to comment on his retirement he said, "I will miss daily contact with the students, otherwise, I don't plan to miss anything at all." He was asked to compare CCHS to the other schools and he replied, "I like the climate in Crook County, and the kids and the faculty are one of the best I've worked with."

Good luck you handsome guy Mr. Vinson.

Mrs. Boyden is leaving her teaching career this year, and going into retirement.

She has had a very successful career teaching the foreign language program, which she started in 1974 with eight students. In 1975 the enrollment went up to 75 students and this year there were 114 students making up the 6 Spanish and French classes. Mrs. Boyden said, "It's been a career any educator could well look back on". In 1976 the Oregon Foreign Language Council and Confederation of Oregon Foreign Language Teachers selected her as Foreign Language Teacher of the Year. She was also named to the Foreign Language Honor Roll, which includes college and secondary school instructors and lay persons. She has a number of writing projects on her agenda after retirement which include writing local history and children's books.

When she was asked if she would miss teaching, she replied that she "suspects she will." One thing for sure is that she will be missed.

Student Council

CROOK COUNTY CONGRESSMEN

Although student council received a certain amount of criticism, they had a very productive year. Three seniors and a junior made up the council, with Donald Pollard as president, Trudy Puckett as vice-president, Brian Hale as treasure and Wendy Galloway as secretary. Among their achievements for the 1984-85 school year, they were responsible for many outstanding activities this year. They gave out apple-grams in September to the faculty and district personnel. During Homecoming a traditional event was renewed, the victory bonfire. The art department at CCHS helped out by decorating four garbage cans so the council could donate them to the community. During the Christmas Season, they prepared food baskets for the under privileged families around Prineville. Finally, they were in charge of the Special Olympics and the Blood Drive, both of which went well. They were an inventive group that accomplished a lot

Foreign Exchange Students GETTING CLOSER TO THE U.S.

This year CCHS had the opportunity to get to know three exchange students from Mexico and Sweden. All of them stayed with host families and took part in activities in our community and school.

Irma Sanchez was from Monterey, Mexico. She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kadabaugh. She was in the 11th grade. While here she ran on the cross country team. Irma left Prineville during spring break to return to Mexico.

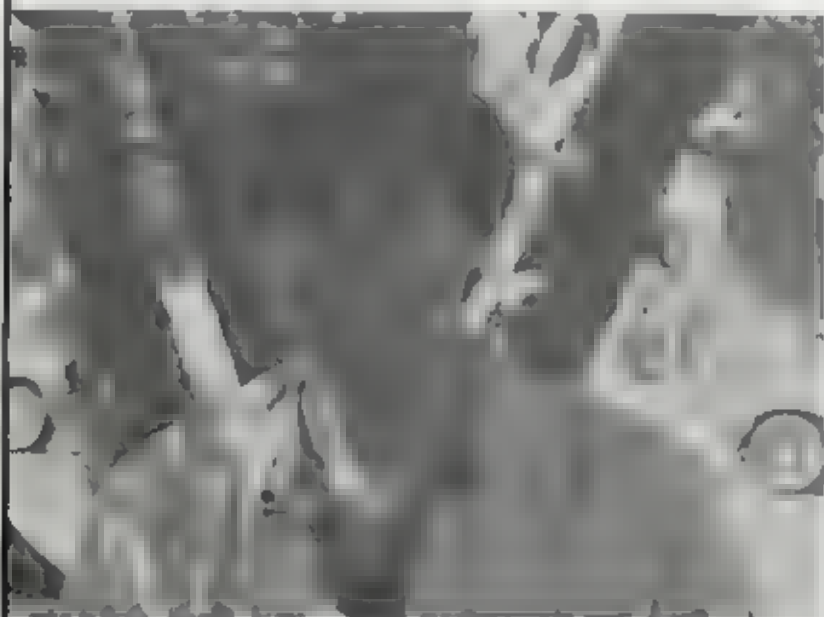

Luis Gonzales was also from Mexico. Except his hometown was Saltillo in Northern Mexico. He lived with Mr. and Mrs. Downen. Luis was 17 and since he had graduated from his school in Mexico he could not participate in school activities specifically sports.

While in the U.S. he visited Seattle and Crater Lake. The most memorable moments for him were the Jr. Sr. Prom and Senior Skip Day. After returning home Luis visited friends and started college with a major in computer science.

Lotta Klingstrom came from Oskarshamn, Sweden. While in Prineville she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Craig. She traveled to California, Idaho, and Washington. She attended the Oregon Shakespearean Festival in Ashland. The best trip for her was the trip back east with her host family in May. Lotta performed in the school musical "Godspell" and "Who Killed Aunt Caroline" with the Ochoco Players.

These three young people helped spread their culture over our school. We wish them luck in their future travels.

Shakespeare

LIVING LEAR FOR A DAY

In the spring of 1985 the Senior Advanced Placement English, Junior A.P. English, and Shakespeare classes traveled to Ashland for the 1985 Shakespearean Festival. The first trip was taken on March 19 & 20 by the Senior A.P. class and the other two classes attended on April 26 & 27.

Ashland itself was a very enchanting tourist town that created a Shakespearean atmosphere with flags waving in celebration of the festival's 50th anniversary. Much of the students' free time was spent exploring soda shops, dining places, souvenir shops, clothing stores, and the museum. Undoubtedly the most rewarding experiences were the plays shown in Angus Boer Theater.

Katie Hamberger tries on a feathered crown. Kathy Dimock, Wendy Wilson, and Lisa Pearl wait happily for the waiter Deena Surplus. Christy Darnell, Linda Alexander, and Katie Hamberger enjoy themselves at Lithia Park. Mr. Bolton porks out Kathy Dimock. Katy Fitzgerald and Katie Hamberger play dress up. Loni Amott pays close attention to the teacher.

The plays were electric. Students saw characters they had studied from the tragedy "King Lear" come to life in a more realistic way than they could ever have imagined. They were treated to the comedies of "Light Up the Sky" and "Trelawny of the Wells" during the first trip with "Light Up the Sky" being replaced by "Crimes of the Heart" for students attending in April. The acting, as well as the light and sound effects were so expertly done that the overall effect was fascinating. The students also got a chance to go "behind the scenes" on a backstage tour given by one of the actors at the theatre. They also had the opportunity to attend discussions after a play performance.

The memories created in Ashland were ones that will last a lifetime. To those who went, it may have only been the beginning of another side of their lives.

Pep Club

A STEP TOWARD ENTHUSIAM

The Pep Club had a very successful year under the supervision of Roxie Arnett. The Pep Club had several goals. One of them was to get the student body more involved in sports. There was a very good turn out for basketball and baseball games. The main goal was to get a flag and pole for Ward Rhoden Stadium. In April, the Pep Club took a trip down the Deschutes River to go white water rafting.

Dawn Webb draws a rough copy of the official Pep Club shirt. Trudy Puckett and Daren Hepperly listen attentively to a Pep Club lecture. Christy Darnell displays last years' Pep Club shirt. This is what he final copy of the official Pep Club shirt looks like. Jennifer Collins puts in her suggestions. Kim Bates takes Jennifer's suggestion as being funny.

Band

KEEPING THE SPIRIT GOING

Whether it was a football game without lights, or a Christmas parade with frozen instruments, the CCHS Pep Marching Band marched and played with spirit.

The Concert and Jazz Bands worked hard and started off the concert season with a wintery Christmas concert.

These bands deserved a big hand for all the work they put into the 84-85 school year.

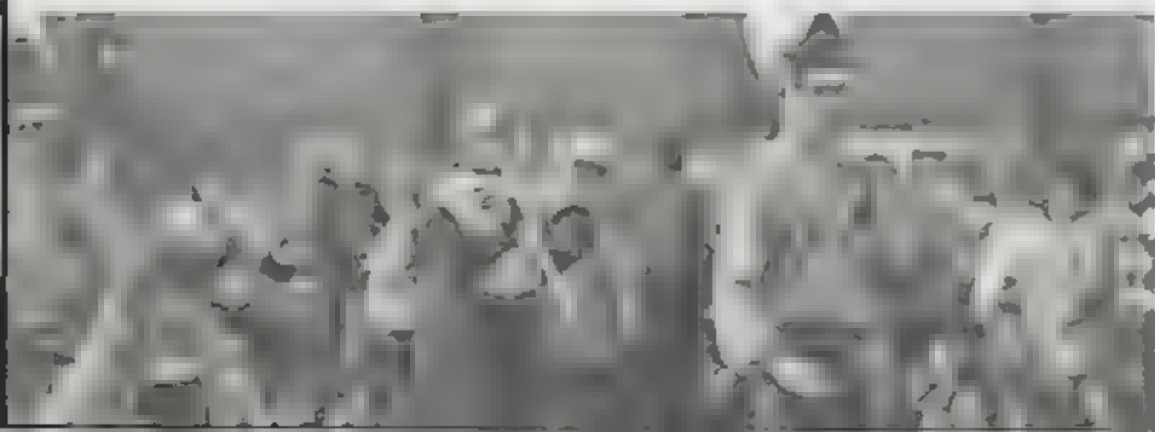

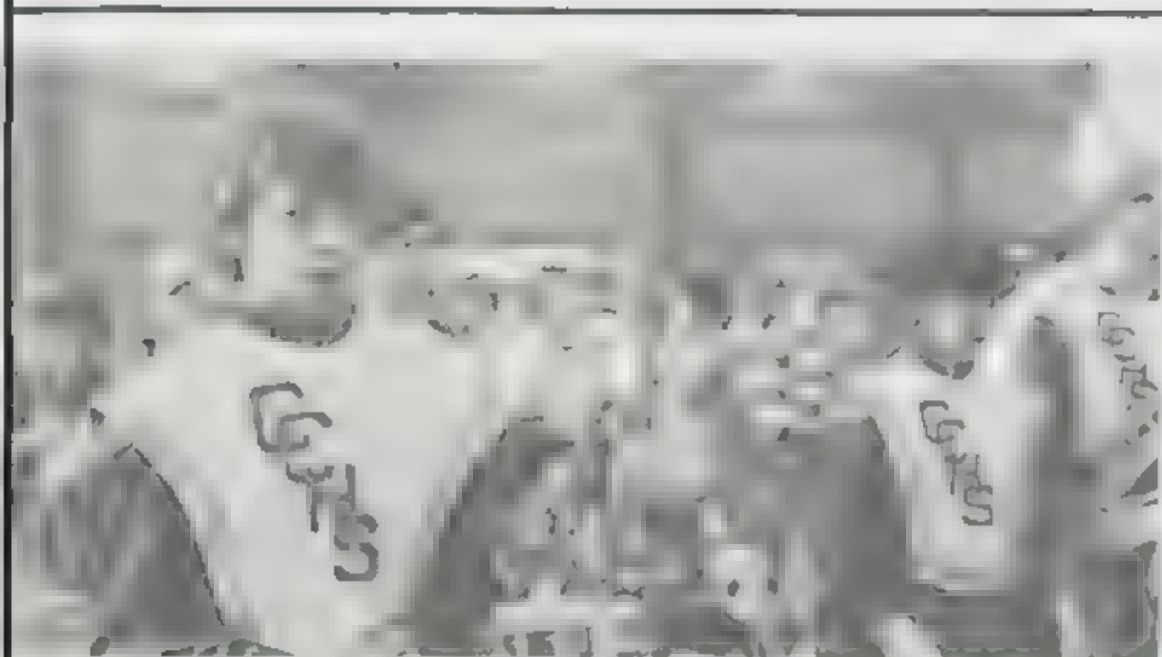

Dale Clay waits for a chance to play. Band plays Cowboys to victory over Medford. Concert band rehearses for upcoming concert. Band adds music to local parade. Starting Cowboys off right. Song on courthouse steps. Waiting patiently for a turn.

Choir

STRIVING FOR PERFECTION

Under the new direction of Mr. Blaine Cameron the 1984-85 year proved to be a good year for the First Wave, A Cappella and A Cappella Prep Choirs.

The year's First Wave or Jazz Choir sang for community functions, while the A Cappella and A Cappella Prep worked to perfect music for the concerts they put on during the 84-85 year.

Forest Products

FUTURE WOODSMEN OF CROOK COUNTY

Once again, Forest Products had a successful year. Mr. Donald Paulson instructed the 15 students this year. The class consumed two periods and was very useful to the future loggers. During the year, the class was responsible for the selling of fire wood and posts to the Crook County residents. This alone helped the program financially as well as providing a much needed product

These young loggers were taught the fundamentals of the wood industry. It was highly useful in many aspects. They not only learned how to fall trees, but they also had the opportunity to become familiar with heavy equipment. This is a favorite class among CCHS students and Don Paulson deserves a pat on the back for a job well done.

SKILLS AND LEADERSHIP

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, under the direction of Mr. Cleavenger, had a prosperous year. Club president Athan Kramer and vice president John Schlichting were a successful team, as the club made a strong showing at the skills and leadership contest. To raise money for this event, the club was involved in various fund raisers. Among the money making projects, they sold popcorn and coke at different school activities. The club has been active since 1976 and is a definite advantage to those CCHS students involved with this club.

F.F.A.

FARMERS ON THE MOVE

This year the F.F.A. sold wood and candy and sponsored the annual donkey basketball game. The members had a busy money-raising year. Most of their money went into the cost of their jackets and to their treasury.

The president of the Future Farmers of America, Tony Schwartz, said that the whole concept of the F.F.A. was to "Promote agriculture and leadership." The members of the C.C.H.S. chapter of the F.F.A. worked hard at upholding those standards.

Pep Assemblies

A STEP WITH PEP

The pep assemblies this year brought the students together on a common goal - to support the upcoming event. Students and cheerleaders rallied together and showed their enthusiasm for the athletes and their tries for success. The cheerleaders tried hard to unite this school's "peppy" students by throwing pies in their faces, humiliating their favorite teachers and having the classes yell at each other during roll call. The pep assemblies were a good way to involve the students that never attended any sports or school activities, and made them more aware of the school functions

Parent Conference

A STEP TOWARD PARENT AWARENESS

New to CCHS this year was the parent teacher conference. Many other schools had experimented with this and found it successful so CCHS decided to try. The faculty and advisors were very pleased with the outcome and the attendance. Mr. Fulwyler was excited and hoped to begin a tradition with the conferences

Honor Core A HARDER STEP

Once again, on four Monday nights during the school year, the Honor Core members gathered to hear speakers talk on different subjects; students heard about the value of an education, the different types of paintings, who controls the media, and robotics.

The favorite of these seminars was Maggie Moore and her robots. It was followed closely by ex-professional basketball player, Dave Twardzik's talk about the value of school and how to gain success.

Students belonging to Honor Core hoped to improve their academic success.

Arts & Crafts

WHAT DID THEY MAKE THIS YEAR?

The art and wood classes did an extremely good job on their projects. The art students involved themselves with watercolors, oil, ceramics, glass etching, leathertooking, basketweaving, macrame, stitchery, and weaving. The woodshop students made tables, dishes, cabinets, desks, and beds. In woodshop the most memorable project was a dining room table made by Dean Tschantre. Rich VanWinkle made a double drawer waterbed with a tall headboard. Doug Gannon made an unusual, rare, roll-top cedar chest. Jim Kvor-tek created a hexagon shaped coffee table. Both Larry Brant and Scotty Banta put their skills to work on large desks.

CLOCKWISE Mr. Polson gives us a smile. A work of art from Vicki Smith. Jackie Crofcheck and Shalynn Christoffersen take a breather. Dean Tschantre shines his work of art. Cheryl Williams and Angie Chapman take their time to achieve perfection.

The 1984-85 athletic club had almost 65 members if not more by the time sports had finished for the year. The participation was not much different from last year. The students eligible for membership in this club have to have earned a

The school musical was one of the best performances yet. The musical was very exciting. It was also funny and showed excellent group participation.

The cast members enjoyed having such outstanding directors as Mr. Cameron, and Mr. Wiard. They gave a lot of their time and effort in order to make the musical successful.

Problems seemed to be small for the cast. Even the forgotten lines were easy to overcome.

The cast members were disappointed by the lack of student body turnout. They had expected more support from the student body and from the community.

The members of the cast were happy with their performance in the play. "Everybody felt closer at the end, sort of like a family," said Kevin McKinney. By the close of the play the cast and workers all felt that they had grown into a closer friendship.

Kevin McKinney sings his solo in a duet with Yancey Fall, as Lori Duhn and Linda Alexander try to catch on to Lotta Klingstrom's and Carrie Carillo's dance routine. Kathy Dimock portrays a growing plant amongst choking weeds portrayed by Kevin McKinney and Shawna Burge in a pantomime of a parable from the book of Matthew. Yancey Fall preaches to the audience one of his speeches in the play. Lisa Pearl becomes a little girl telling the parable of the sower sowing seeds found in the book of Matthew.*

WINNING IT BIG

During the first state playoff game against Central Catholic on November 9th, Crook County fans started a chant of "We're number one." When it was over the Cowboys varsity football team had won 28-6. This was just one of the victories on the Cowboy's triumphant road to state.

The next victory game on November 17, when the Cowboys walked over Barlow 43-11 at Civic Stadium in Portland. The Cowboys won their next game on November 24th, when Corvallis, the number one rated football team in the state, fell before the Cowboys 23-7. The next team to oppose the Cowboys was Medford. This a semi-final game was played in the fog at Autzen Stadium in Eugene. The results of the game were not unusual for this year's Cowboys, as they reigned over Medford 13-6. The Cowboys had only one more game before they could claim the title of the top football team in the state.

The game against Lakeridge began on December 8th at Civic Stadium in Portland. It was only the fifth time in OSA history an eastside team had reached the AAA championship. The crowds were amazed as a school small enough to be ranked AA walked away victorious. It was the first state football championship won by Crook County in 32 years.

J.V. Football

STEPS OF WINNING

The Junior Varsity football team of Crook County High School made it to the top with an excellent season. The team went undefeated with seven wins and no losses.

"They showed consistent improvement and should have some positive momentum going into next year," said assistant coach Grant Patterson.

"Most of the team was made up of freshmen last year, but the defense was strong this year and they gave up 1 touch down during each game."

The J.V.'s played their fourth game against Mountain View on October 4th, 1984. The Cowboys scored 13 points and held M.V. scoreless in the first half. They went on to blank M.V. 27 to 0.

The J.V.'s hope to be as superb again next year as they were this year.

Frosh Football

TOUGH COMPETITION

The fantastic Freshman football stars of 84-85 had a tough schedule but still came out with a winning season.

With 5 wins and 3 losses, coach Terry Sime stated that "The future bodes well for Crook County football. The frosh started to play the game the way Crook County football is played." By that, Sime means that they are small but hit hard.

The young Cowboys defense was most responsible for their successful season.

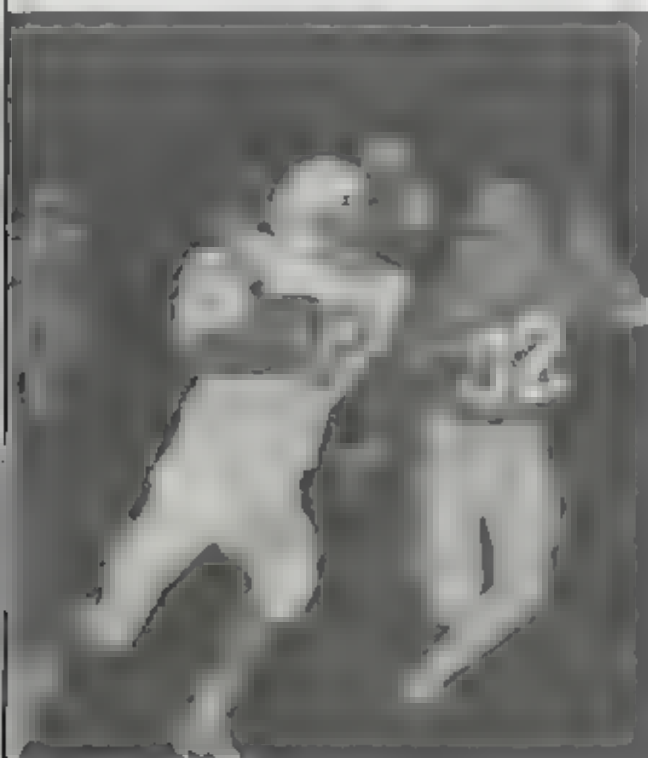

In their first game against Mt. View, the defense set the tone for season as they caused numerous turnovers giving the frosh offense the opportunity to win the game. This formula carried the frosh team to each of its victories in the 8-4 season.

They were a really hardworking group of kids, and they ran well for an inexperienced team," said Coach Fred Bushong of the 1984 boys' and girls' cross country teams.

Neither the girls' nor the boys' team ran as well as they have in the past — this year being the first year in many years that no runners advanced to the state meet. Both teams together fielded only eight seniors, so much of the talent will be returning next year.

Over all, we had a great season," said the Cowboys' varsity wrestling coach, Mr. Russ Thurman. The varsity wrestling team had an impressive record of 16 wins and 4 losses. The Cowboys placed third at district in LaGrande, and sixth in state at the Portland Childs Center. Coach Thurman said, "One of our best matches was against LaGrande." The score between Crook County and LaGrande was close

The 1985 season proved to be quite a challenge for the Cowboys, as they finished the season with a 11-14 record.

Competition was said to be the toughest in the state evidence by the Central Oregon teams preseason records.

"I honestly feel with a few breaks we could have been 14-11 instead of 11-14 in league play. But, by not playing last season may have been the difference from getting those breaks," commented Coach Ferguson.

NEXT STOP WIMBLEDON

The 1985 tennis team had a fairly successful year, though the absence of competition tennis last year had an effect on the returning varsity players. "We would have been a strong, competitive team in sub-district and district last year," stated coach Terry Hild.

Doug Clements proved to be a primary asset to this year's team, losing to only two people. One of them was last year's District Champion, whom he took to three sets two different times. Number two singles, Kurt Paul also returned this year and had a strong record.

The three other return players were Kevin McKinney, Scott Bruneel, and Tom Rorick, all of whom filled the third singles and one and two doubles spots. New members on the team were Chuck Seely, Bill McClean, and Sean Moling.

Girls' Tennis

THE FIRST STEP TOWARD EXPERIENCE

The girls tennis team was extremely young this year having only three seniors. It was also a relatively inexperienced team as many new faces appeared blending in with the four returning players.

Number one singles player Lara Allen, one of the returning players from two years ago, proved to be very strong after her one year lapse from tennis competition. Also returning was number two singles player Christy Darnell, and she was out to make her last year worth it. She sprained her knee the day before sub-district and to her despair, quit the season early.

The two other returning players were Jo Shinkle and Renee Waters who filled the number one doubles spot this year and made it to quarterfinals in sub-district. New members of the team were Lisa Pearl, Catherine Collins, Kristin Larson, Jana Zachow, Becky Shepard, and Susan Johnson.
